

(The following information was obtained from the records maintained by the FBI Office at New York City.)

Abstract

An electrolytic process and apparatus for oxidizing inorganic or organic species is disclosed. The process and apparatus includes contacting a solution containing the inorganic or organic species with an electrocatalytic material disposed in an electrolytic reactor. Also disclosed are processes for fabricating a catalyst material for use in the electrolytic reactors and processes.

BEST AVAILABLE COPY